

Video Guide

China as a growing economic power

Complete the video guide as you watch the segment “China’s Rising Economy”.

1. And yet, almost every week, an old neighborhood is razed to the ground to make way for sci-fi skylines, ___ __ ____, Mao as merchandise, every _____ product you can think of -- sometimes real, often not.
2. With more than _____ as many people as the U.S. and Europe combined, this is the most populous, _____ - _____ major economy in world history.
3. To general manager Philippe Caretti, an Italian-Swiss who's worked in a dozen countries for the hotel chain, Shanghai's the hub of the ____ _____.
4. Not in our hotel and, to be honest with you, not in Shanghai. Shanghai has a _____ that no other city in China has.
5. Since the late '70s, however, China's economy has _____ every eight years. In that same period, the U.S. economy has doubled _____.
6. Today, average Chinese have some ten times the _____ _____ they had just a quarter century ago.
7. On a clear day, though there aren't many here, you can see more than _____ skyscrapers in Shanghai; in 1985, there was ____.
8. By the most conservative count, China now boasts ____ cities with at least 1 million people. The U.S., using the same measure, has _____.
9. Now manufacturing has taken China's total trade past that of Japan, and today, to the surprise of many, it's second only to the _____.
10. China is moving up the value chain with higher-tech exports like _____ _____.
11. Average _____ are going up. Car ownership is going up. I mean, you're seeing what occurred in the U.S. thirty, forty years ago but in a much more _____ timeframe.
12. Trying to _____ in a repressive culture; trying to _____ property in an economy where intellectual property is so famously pirated.